

Material Requisition

Automate and optimize the material requisition process

Digitalize and streamline your material workflows with Hexagon's Xalt Material Requisition. This easy-to-use, convenient application gives you precise, real-time visibility into your material inventory and usage from any iOS, Android or browser device. Tailored for your organization's unique requirements and integrated with your other systems, Material Requisition ensures materials are there as needed, reducing wait time and speeding allocation and accounting.

As a single point for material sourcing, cost control and logistics management, Material Requisition reduces errors resulting from manual processes and frees up foremen and project managers for other tasks. With accurate data on material cost, allocation, usage and more, this powerful application can be used to measure and improve project performance to reduce waste and maximize profit.
